Birthday Presents Heaped on Stalin By His 'Subjects'

LONDON, Dec. 20 — (AP) — The greatest giveaway jackpot program in history is on today, with Russia's Joseph Stalin on the receiving end.

Stalin, overlord of world communism, hits the jackpot tomorrow when he reaches the age of 70. How much the take in birthday presents is worth is anybody's guess. Tons and tons of gifts—so many that not in centuries could one man use them up—have descended on Moscow from the Communist world.

Reports reaching London through the Soviet Monitor and other channels indicate that there will be more than 1,000,000 parcels, bearing the tag: "Happy Birthday Dear Comrade."

Besides, there will be a veritable flood of big crates containing the more unwieldy gifts—all the way from motorcycles to airplanes.

Take an average figure of $5 per gift—that would be cheap for a birthday gift for Stalin—and the jackpot is worth more than $5,000,000.

Some Practical Gifts

Shoes, socks, neckties, choice foods, wines, spirits, toys, dolls, books, automobiles, horses, motorcycles, airplanes, locomotives and even whole factories are among the many carloads of presents converging upon the Kremlin from the satellite areas and far territories of the U. S. S. R.

Long freight trains hauled gifts into Moscow. There were 70 cars—one for each birthday—from Communist east Germany. A freight train of 11 cars left Warsaw with presents from Poland. The locomotive of the train was almost hidden by the huge portrait of Stalin it bore as it pulled out.

Stalin probably will have little use for much of what he gets. A man of 70, for instance, would be a bit beyond playing with the 17 dollars he is getting from Italian Communists, or riding a motor scooter from Milan, or an Italian racing bicycle, or a motorcycle and airplane from Prague, or even taking a buggy ride in a carriage from Sofia.

Share the Presents

Presumably much of what Stalin is given will be redistributed. Even this will take a long time.

Poets, musicians and playwrights have turned out special birthday works in many languages. Paint-

Blast Rocks Wide Area Near Gasoline Plant

NEWARK, Dec. 20 — (AP)—An explosion heard miles away destroyed a gasoline condenser station of the Preston Oil and Gas Co. at Homer, 13 miles north of here early today.

No one was injured, but plant officials said the installation was a "complete loss." They made no immediate estimate of damage other than reporting it would run "into thousands of dollars." Debris was thrown 1200 feet. The explosion, followed by fire, was heard in Newark and in Mount Vernon, 11 miles north of Homer. The blast shattered windows of about a dozen houses within a half-mile radius.

Residents of Utica, four miles away, reported waves of "shook" at the instant of the blast, which took place at 5:40 A. M.

Roy Chrisman, plant superintendent, said a preliminary survey indicated the blast originated in two 30-foot high absorber tanks of the condenser station. The plant processes a type of high-test gasoline commonly known as "drip gas" since it forms in natural gas lines and drips from them in liquid form.

Two Escape Injury

Two employees at the installation at the time escaped injury. They were Wayne Hunt of Utica, who

Wife Gets Spanked By Substitute Hubby In 'Giveaway' Hoax

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 20 — (AP)—It will have to be a pretty good "giveaway" program to interest a certain Youngstown housewife.

Recently a voice over the phone promised her $100 for the best suggestion on "How to Tame Your Wife." The idea? "A spanking, of course," she said.

Then the "voice" promised her $100 if she would have her husband pat her on the posterior hard enough to be heard over the phone.

Her husband was away, but she called in a neighbor as a substitute. Later she called a local radio station to arrange to get the century note. The station knew nothing of the "program," told her it had been a hoax.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

I have never seen so many parked cars of shoppers here, as those of Saturday.

From all directions the shoppers poured into the city. Some of the cars were parked several squares from the point where the occupants wished to do their buying.

As far away as Temple Street cars were parked by the dozens, and all intervening places were filled. Scores of cars were on the move most of the time as drivers sought a more convenient parking space than those open squares away from the business area.

That parking lot idea suggested a short time ago seems to be a good one, and I hope it is put into effect very soon.

Runaway Daughter Is Hunted in Ohio

BATAVIA, Dec. 20 — (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. James Doll today asked Sheriff Claude Derriks early today to help them search for their daughter, Betty Jane, 25.

The parents notified the sheriff they believed their daughter had eloped with Thomas Kinner, 21, of Loveland. They explained they had no objections to the marriage but the daughter has been crippled and confined to a wheel chair since birth and Mr. and Mrs. Doll said they were concerned over her medical care.

The Dolls said the couple was at Kinner's home about 1 A. M. today and said they were going to Calumet, Mich.

Monday Really Is Record Day At Post Office

52,220 Cancellations Are Made and 749 Parcels Handled

Monday's business at the Washington C. H. Post Office broke all previous records, and cancellations totaled 52,220, with 749 parcels received at the windows and sent on their way.

A year ago on the same date, 51,280 cancellations were made, or approximately 1,000 less than the record-breaking number handled Monday.

Not only was Monday the biggest day in the history of the local post office, but it also was the heaviest day of this year's big Christmas business at the office.

Lines were in evidence at the office from early Monday until the closing hour, and busy clerks saw that every piece of mail received was sent on its way without delay.

In addition to the vast amount of outgoing mail, the office handled tens of thousands of pieces of incoming mail, and this was distributed as speedily as possible.

Parcel post delivery kept a crew busy throughout the day, and the same crew will be busy until the final hours before Christmas, according to present indications.

Tuesday started out to be another big day at the office, with many heavy mailings of greeting cards, addressed locally.

At the end of each day, a surprisingly small amount of mail remains in the office, and this goes out on the first deliveries the following day. It is mail not received in time for delivery the same day it was mailed.

Rural carriers are hauling great numbers of parcels until their car much resembles Santa Claus and his sleigh, laden with gifts.

The postage meter installed at the office here recently, has done much to speed parcel handling at the windows, and there is no wait for selecting and counting stamps. When the amount of the parcel postage is determined by weight, the meter operator presses the proper buttons and in a matter of seconds, the stamp is ready to be applied to the parcel.

Enemies During War Now Roommates at Wilmington College

WILMINGTON, Dec. 20 — (AP)—It was only a few years ago that Charles Cornell of Pelham, N. Y., was helping to conquer the homeland of Wakatshu Oshiro, a native Okinawan. And Oshiro was a member of the Japanese army.

Now the two are roommates and buddies at Wilmington College. Cornell, son of a New York surgeon, served with the navy during World War II. He participated in the opening bombardment of Okinawa and later was in the occupation force.

This fall Oshiro entered Wilmington and the two became roommates. Oshiro entered the Japanese army when he was 18 and was sent to Japan for training and service. When the war ended he served for two years as chief interpreter for the American Military Government in Japan.

"I don't know why we fought," he explains. "When I became 18 I was drafted like the boys here. They didn't tell me why."

Bank Bandit Found Working in Jail

MARION, Ind., Dec. 20 — (AP)—The sheriff said today the men he trusted with the keys to the jail turned out to be an Ohio bank robber.

Nearly four months ago Sheriff Vaughn Treber hired a new turnkey. The man called himself Jimmy Burke.

But Jimmy Burke wasn't his real name. Yesterday, through an FBI photograph, he was disclosed as James H. (Bugs) Perry, 56, of Rittman, Wayne County, O., Treber announced.

The FBI has been hunting Perry for the $3,134 robbery of a bank in North Fairfield, Huron County, O.,

Christmas That Can't Be Made Merry

Farm Fire Toll Is Raised to 7

EMMETT, Mich., Dec. 20 — (AP)—Death took its sixth and seventh victims of former Clarence Bethway's family of 14 today.

As sorrowing townspeople gave aid in the Christmas week calamity, 80-year-old Grandma Louise, a heroine of yesterday's fire, succumbed with a granddaughter, Mary Lou, 13.

Both the elderly woman and the child died of burns in Port Huron General Hospital.

Five other children, ranging in age from 3 to 11, were burned to death when trapped in an up-upstairs bedroom in a pre-dawn blaze which destroyed the family home.

Grandma Louise Bethway was burned while rescuing one child. There were 11 children in the family.

Mary Lou and a brother, Joe, 8, leaped from a window. But both had been burned badly.

Joe was reported in serious condition at the hospital today.

The tragedy stunned this little village of 229 population.

Townfolk conceded there was nothing they could do—nothing—to make this a Merry Christmas for the survivors.

But the goal was to keep the remaining members of the family together and provide them a new home by Christmas Day.

Patrick McCabe, the village banker, is heading a fund-raising drive. One citizen, who asked anonymity, started it off with a gift of $100.

The plan is first to provide immediate shelter by renting a house and later to restore the farm home two miles west of here in southeastern Michigan.

The flash fire struck the Bethway home before dawn yesterday. Christmas gifts stored in the closets were destroyed.

So were all the other possessions, including the family's clothing and a new electric stove and refrigerator.

Bethway, 37, farmer and odd-jobs man, had provided comfortably for his family even though it was a big group.

New York Mayor And Former Model Wedded in Florida

STUART, Fla., Dec. 20 — (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York, tanned and happy, was married today to radiant Elizabeth Sloan Simpson in a simple ceremony at St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

The Newlyweds

The Rev. Timothy J. Geary performed the ceremony which he described as "very simple and very beautiful."

O'Dwyer is 59 and his Texas-born bride 33.

The city commission late last night named the wedding day as "William O'Dwyer Day" and proclaimed him as "permanent honorary mayor of the city of Stuart."

The Stuart city commissioners issued a proclamation signed by Mayor Drew King. The proclamation added:

"It is hoped the mayor and his bride will return soon to these tropical surroundings."

The 2,500 residents of this Florida east coast town got a glimpse of the bride and groom when they drove through the center of town from the little wooden church to the municipal docks to board the honeymoon yacht, Almar II.

27 Nazi Criminals Granted Freedom

LANDSBERG, Germany, Dec. 20 — (AP)—Twenty-seven smiling German war criminals were freed today from the U. S. army's Landsberg prison for good behavior during confinement.

They had served the greater part of three and five-year sentences given them by U. S. military courts for war crimes. All their sentences would have expired next June 30.

None was a big-name Nazi criminal.

Pensioners Here All Face Cuts In Allowances

939 On County List For December—All Likely Feel Effects

Old age pensioners in Fayette County faced drastic cuts today in allowances for health care and personal and miscellaneous expenses.

They and about 127,000 other pensioners in Ohio, will be cut back on these expenses gradually, however.

Cuts here will be ordered only after a "thorough investigation" of each case by workers with the Fayette County Division of Aid to Aged, according to Mrs. Martine Straley, division manager.

An order to reduce the allowances or awards was made to all division of Aid for the Aged.

The order was issued, according to state officials, because of rising costs. Gov. Frank Lausche said old age pensions had increased about $500,000 a month since July 1, 1949.

Under the new order, allowances for personal and miscellaneous expenses, which have averaged $50 to $60 a year, will be reduced to half or less.

939 Case Load Now

There are 939 old aged pensioners on the December pension list in Fayette County.

The pensioners will be cut to $12 per year for those living in public institutions, $24 per year for those living with another individual and $36 for those living alone.

Engineer Leaves Money For OSU Scholarships

COLUMBUS, Dec. 20 — (AP)—Korean students will be provided scholarships through $34,097 received yesterday by Ohio State University.

The late Raymond E. L. Krumm, who at the turn of the century was chief engineer for the Korean government, left the amount in his will.

Krumm, who died Sept. 14, 1948, was a graduate of OSU.

Christmas Spirit Is Spread Here As Brass Choir Plays Carols

Window shades went flying up around the city Monday night as the sound of Christmas carols came forth from a brass choir.

What the Washington C. H. residents saw was a group of musicians selected from the high school band.

Under the direction of Band Leader William B. Clift, Jr., about a dozen trombone and trumpet players made steps all over the

Five Held for Fraud In Car Selling Set-up

DETROIT, Dec. 20 — (AP)—Five persons were held, four others were sought and up to 15 were believed implicated today in what state officials described as a $2,000,000 sales tax fraud on new cars.

These were other developments. Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., stepped into the investigation.

State police said they had "definite information" that a "John Mattson," sought as one of the key figures in the case, actually was Robert F. Harper of Highland Park, Mich., one of the five under arrest.

Capt. Edward Cooper, leading the state police inquiry, said Mattson's name figured prominently in dealer records listing car purchases by the dummy "mon of war corp."

Dummy corporations, Cooper said, were set up in Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Texas and Michigan as part of the scheme.

Cooper said these corporations then would represent themselves to Detroit dealers as car fleet operators and buy large blocks of autos or trucks.

The titles, he said, would be transferred to indicate the cars left the state, when actually the cars remained right in Detroit.

In this way, it was explained, no state sales tax would be required on sales presumably made to buyers outside the state, no dealer's licenses would be obtained and only small freight charges would be paid. This would give the operators of the scheme a competitive advantage in retailing the cars. Capt. Cooper estimated this advantage at $100 to $500 on each sale.

Police identified the five held without charge as George Parker and his wife, Esther, of Detroit; Edward Gail, Detroit; Kenneth Pence, of Bayton, Tex., a son of Mrs. Parker by a previous marriage, and Harper.

James E. Burns and his brother, J. W. Burns, Jr., also of Baytown, were released after questioning yesterday.

State of the Union Message Ready -- To Give Tip on Plans

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 20 — (AP)—President Truman flew back to Washington today from a three-week Florida vacation.

He took off from the nearby Boca Chica Airport at 8:44 A. M. (EST) on a flight estimated at from three to four hours.

Tanned, relaxed and cheerful, he looked in good health in spite of the "bay window" which apparently was of less concern to him than to his physician, Brig. General Wallace H. Graham.

Mr. Truman is going down the line in his "state of the union" message for virtually every measure Congress denied him last year.

The measures include civil rights proposals—topped by the fair employment practices bill—the national health program, expanded social security and additional power and reclamation projects, among others.

Aides emphasized there will be no "turning back" from the course he advocated in his 1948 speech-making campaign and that he is ready to take the stump again next year to help elect candidates to Congress who think along his lines.

Final decisions are yet to be made on whether to seek elimination of war-time excise taxes and to advocate higher taxes on profits to offset them and attempt to balance the budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Mr. Truman has called a full-scale cabinet session at the White House for 10 A. M. (EST) Thursday to discuss these and other problems.

Winter Closes Grip On Mountain States

(By The Associated Press) Wintery weather spread an icy finger over the central Rocky Mountain states and headed into the upper Missouri Valley today.

The eastern and southeastern parts of the country had comparatively mild temperatures.

The mercury dropped to sub-zero levels throughout most of Montana and parts of North Dakota and Wyoming today. In Montana, it dipped to 20 below zero at Havre; 19 below at Lewistown and -18 at Custer. Williston, N. D., reported a low of -10 and it was -5 at Lander, Wyo.

Show fell throughout most of the cold belt and strong winds piled drifts on many roads. Ice-glazed highways and streets in many areas slowed travel.

Salt Lake City reported 35 accidents, many resulting from icy streets, over a 24-hour period. Heavy snowfall was reported in northern Utah. School buses in some sections were blocked by drifts.

Folks Plan Dance For Friend's Ghost

WEST MINOT, Me., Dec. 20 — (AP)—Country folk will make merry tonight at the birthday ball of a man dead for 23 years.

The scene: West Minot's tiny Grange Hall. The program: modern dances and the old-fashioned square dances beloved by the "ghost host"—Jairus "Jerry" Hilborn.

Jerry would have been 98 today. Long a friend, counselor and benefactor of the village youth, he left a modest sum for a dance each year until he would have been 100. He attached but one condition—at the height of the festivities there must be a moment of silence in tribute to Jerry. And should this silence be broken, the dances would end.

Four From County At London Meeting

Four teachers and school administrators from Fayette County attended the principals' discussion group meeting held Monday night in London.

Those who went from the county included Arthur Wohlers, principal of the Washington C. H. High School; Stephen Brown, superintendent of the city schools; Ray Gorman, sixth grade teacher here, and Milford Barker, superintendent of Madison Mills school.

Brown and Wohlers were in charge of the program for the evening and arranged for the speakers.

Speakers included C. L. Fox, principal of the Springfield high school; John Young, junior and senior counselor at Springfield high, and Howard Buchanan, principal of Covington high school.

The main topics discussed by the group of some 30 school administrators included the setting up of a citizens planning committee to work out a better program for the schools, inter-school visitations and the formation of a faculty planning committee.

Mrs. Charles Reid Funeral Services

Funeral services for Mrs. Charles Reid were largely attended at the Hook and Son Funeral Home Monday afternoon.

Rev. Allan W. Caley conducted the services and read the hymns "Lead Kindly Light" and "Crossing the Bar".

The many beautiful floral tributes were cared for by the pallbearers.

They were Robert Jefferson, Randall Worthington, Paul Strey, Howard Harper, Frank Dawson and Rankin Paul.

Burial was made in the family lot at Washington Cemetery.

Stalin's Birthday

ings have been sent from Communists in Britain, France and Sweden.

Ukrainian peasants sent fine sunflower seeds and red apples, along with a solemn assurance they were "laying the foundation for a bumper harvest next year" in Stalin's honor.

Czechoslovakia's Communists have outdone themselves. Besides thousands of gifts, the Czech Communists have attempted to get 9,000,000 signatures on a birthday greeting to Stalin. They are unveiling two huge statues to him, in Bratislava and Prague. They are having special holidays in his honor. The highest mountain in Czechoslovakia, 8,737-foot Mount Gerlachovka, is being renamed "Mount Stalin."

The highest mountain in Czechoslovakia, 8,737-foot Mount Gerlachovka, is being renamed "Mount Stalin."

A delegation of 17 persons, including the lady foreign minister, Ana Pauker, has left Bucharest, Romania, to deliver carloads of presents to Moscow.

Bulgaria also sent carloads. Hungary sent four big trucks packed with gifts.

Communist China is cooking up a big celebration, with meetings and rallies throughout the land. Dutch Communists sent along a special edition of their newspaper, "De Waarheid," in which Communists—for a fee—could insert advertisements containing greetings to Stalin.

There was one mystery gift. Moscow radio has announced the gift of a headdress of an honorary Indian chief. It didn't say what tribe or even what country it was from.

And another gift—from Romania—smacked of Hollywoodism. It is a radio. When it is turned to radio Moscow—what else?—a picture of Stalin lights up.

Mainly About People

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Miller, 601 Gregg Street, are announcing the birth of a son in Greenfield Hospital, Monday evening.

Leo Hidy was taken from his home on the Bogus Road, to Grant Hospital, Columbus, for the removal of a cast on his leg, Tuesday morning, and returned in the Gerstner ambulance.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brunner and daughter, Julia Hope, have moved from the home of Mrs. Brunner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Armbrust, to their newly constructed home, 416 Albin Avenue.

Pfc. and Mrs. Duane Beuthe, nee Mildred Reed, 321 Western Avenue, are the parents of a seven pound, four ounce daughter, Teresa Dianne, born in Wright-Patterson Hospital, Dayton, December 13.

Mrs. Harvey Brown, Jr., 427 South Fayette Street, entered Doctor's Hospital, Columbus, Tuesday afternoon, where she is to undergo surgery. She was taken to the hospital in the Gerstner ambulance.

Staff Sgt. Floyd Lynch, 822 Sycamore Street, who has been stationed at the Clinton County Air Force Base, Wilmington, for the past two years, has gone to Hamilton Field, California, where he will leave soon for a station near Tokyo, Japan, for a thirty months period of duty. Mrs. Lynch and their two children expect to join Sergeant Lynch in Japan as soon as living quarters can be obtained.

Blast Rock Area

was 75 yards from the tanks, and Arthur Dixon of Homer, who was 60 yards away. Dixon was thrown to the ground by the explosion, however.

The fire was the second in the Newark area this week. Late Sunday, a fire at the Pure Oil Co. station at Heath, caused by a leak in a line at the processing plant, was extinguished quickly. The loss was small.

The explosion at Homer destroyed a 100 x 60 foot cement block storage building. Fire destroyed a frame office building after the explosion had ripped off the roof.

The plant is a subsidiary of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., and covers an area about three acres on the outskirts of Homer. Normally, it employs 13 workmen.

Hunt and Dixon said they tried unsuccessfully to fight the flames. Homer has no fire department. Licking County Sheriff William McElroy who went to the scene said the fire was brought under control about 7 A. M., after pumps to other sections of the plant were stopped and the blaze confined to a small area.

One report of the fire reached the Civil Aeronautics Authority at Columbus. The pilot of a private plane bound for St. Louis saw the fire and notified the CAA communications station.

Deputy Ray Bailey of the Licking County sheriff's office reported that from Newark the blast sounded "like far away thunder."

CHICAGO, Dec. 20 (AP)—Grains recovered from an early decline at the Board of Trade today. The 1-m-p was induced by an upward revision of production in the year end government crop report.

Later corn started to advance on reports that Australia had purchased around two million bushels of United States corn. Traders also had reports that the government had purchased a considerable quantity of soybean oil.

BY ELTON C. FAY
FOR JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—United States scientists are finding answers to one of the most difficult and terrifying problems of atomic war-fare.

For three years they have sought a safeguard against the lingering and lethal radioactive poison created in some types of a-bomb explosions. The search has gone on since the underwater explosion of an atomic bomb in the Bikini tests of 1946.

The results of those tests started military and Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) scientists looking for ways to prevent contamination of people and objects or to cleanse areas and objects of the poison.

A new publication of the AEC on "handling radioactive wastes" and a summary of studies written by an army engineer show that the problem is not quite as hopeless as was once believed.

The AEC report mentions that its Oak Ridge, Tenn., laboratories have been seeking better methods for decontaminating buildings, equipment and general areas. Then it comments:

"This work will be useful not only in the atomic energy program but also to the armed forces in developing means of decontaminating equipment in combat zones."

"Progress is reported on the development of strippable films which can be used to cover contaminated apparatus and, if necessary, placed by remote control."

At other laboratories, it says, "similar coatings have been developed for painting hot laboratories. From time to time the contaminated paints can be removed and the laboratory walls do not thus become permanently contaminated."

Atomic experts use the word "hot" to designate anything that is dangerously radioactive. The "hot" ships in the Bikini tests were those sprayed with salt water made radioactive by the underwater burst of the bomb.

At Bikini, various experimental efforts were made to cleanse ships of the radioactive contamination.

Lt. Col. Richard D. Wolfe, army engineer, in an article appearing in the current editions of two unofficial magazines, The Anti-air Craft Journal and The Military Engineer, describes three general methods tried.

"The first," he writes, "consists of surface removal methods. In this category are the successful methods used to date in decontamination of ships. In crudest form they include paint removal by caustic solutions and such brute-force methods as sandblasting and scraping to remove paint and part of the surface of the material."

"The second approach is that of decontamination without affecting character or quality of the surface. This method includes the use of chemical solutions to dissolve the contaminants and carry them away."

"The third method involves the means of preventing contamination, including such devices as the interposition of a water film on the surface which mechanically impedes the attachment of contamination to the surface itself."

Hairdressers Hold Christmas Party

Members of the Washington C. H. Hairdressers Guild held its annual Christmas party Monday night at the Hotel Washington.

The hair dressers sang the Christmas carols, had a gift exchange and awarded some prizes to the winners of some games.

The table was decorated with lighted Christmas trees, and there were log candles in the center. Each place was marked with Christmas corsages.

A guest speaker from the Contour Cosmetics Company of New York spoke to the hairdressers about the importance of selling cosmetics in beauty shops and of proprietors assisting customers in selecting the proper make-up and beauty treatment for their skin.

The speaker also demonstrated professional make-up to the group, which held its business meeting in the George Washington suite.

Chairman of the program was Mrs. Bea Campbell. Members of her committee include Mrs. Imogene Shaw, Mrs. Betty Baker, Mrs. Polly Conway and Mrs. Rachel Hurr.

Fichter Lays Plans To Run for Senate

OXFORD, Dec. 20 (AP)—Joseph W. Fichter, master of the Ohio State Grange, said Sunday he has discussed becoming a Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate "informally with some people in the state."

He said he was "interested" in becoming a candidate but that he is not one now.

He would not say with whom he has talked about becoming a possible candidate.

"I am flattered to think there is some thought being given to me as a candidate," he said. "Such a matter as this is not to be regarded lightly."

He has been master of the Ohio Grange for the last seven years. He directed the Grange's educational work for 16 years before that.

An Ohio Test On Freedom of the Press

Newspaper people have been keenly interested in an action under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act which is a test of the possibility of using that act to achieve government control over the press. If that was not the purpose of the government, the Department of Justice can certainly be suspected of careless definition of its differing objectives. The action is one brought in federal district court at Cleveland against the Lorain, Ohio, Journal, accusing it of attempting to gain a monopoly of news and advertising dissemination.

The most suspect point in the action was a petition by the government for a temporary injunction to force the newspaper, pending court trial of the case, to accept and publish any advertising matter submitted together with advance payment by anyone who had advertised over a nearby radio station. If this injunction had been granted by the court, it could have established a precedent by which the government might be able to gain at least temporary control of the advertising columns of any newspaper simply by provoking the newspaper to decline an advertisement and then bringing a monopoly suit against the paper. From control of advertising columns it might be only a short step to control of the news columns.

Federal Judge Emerich B. Freed has established a different precedent. He refused the injunction, declaring that an order of such portend could be issued only after clear proof of violation of the law. This is a gratifying position for all who believe in the importance of a free press.

Freedom of the press means the right of a newspaper to decide for itself, according to its own standards, what news and what advertising it shall publish. It is good to know that government lawyers have not yet found a way to curtail that freedom on the basis of an untried accusation that a law has been violated.

Unification Saving

Possibility of saving $50,000,000 in the operation of medical services for the armed forces, at the same time improving the efficiency of those services, is seen by Dr.

Ricard L. Meiling, director of defense medical studies. This is to be done chiefly by merging transportation services, purchasing, storage and cataloging of supplies for the four service establishments (counting the Marine Corps as one) which previously have maintained completely separated systems.

This is the kind of improvement and saving the taxpayers have expected to result from unification of the armed services. It seems so logical and sensible that the wonder in the citizen's mind is that it was not done years ago. It is hard to conceive of any adverse effect on the individual services.

If the unification project is tackled in the right spirit, it should be possible to work out merged operations for many other common functions. The savings and the better systems which ought to result might help in time to overcome some of the basic lack of faith in unification which persists among dyed-in-the-wool believers in the pre-eminence of one service or another. Arguments about strategy and weapons probably can be expected to continue for a while, but if smoothly working common systems can be developed for non-combatant operations, we may be well on the way to realization of the full benefits of a single defense establishment.

Leap For Life

What a ridiculous spectacle it makes when an ordinarily dignified man or woman must run for dear life to get across the street before the arrival of a speeding car. Looked at from another angle, it is almost somewhat disgusting that a pedestrian, especially an elderly one, should have to abandon all dignity and concentrate on saving his life.

The alternative would be to have traffic slow down. Is that course unthinkable?

Santa must have overlooked those two front teeth last year—the song about them is still with us.

"The show must go on," we are told. In some instances we wonder why.

How to Keep 'Em Down on Farm

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(AP)—When the good earth will pay a fellow $10 an hour, should he leave the farm for a career in the city? The new king of the nation's junior vegetable growers has decided there is only one answer to that one:

"I'm staying on the farm." City life holds no attractions for 20-year-old Russell L. Sears, Jr., of Cummington, Mass., who was crowned champion of the national junior vegetable growers' association in Washington last week.

He won the $500 first prize by raising and marketing $1,300 worth of vegetables on a two-and-one-half acre plot. Several thousand farm youths competed in the contest, sponsored by the A. and P. food stores.

Sears, a six-foot, junior at the University of Massachusetts, explained that he grossed the $1,300 by sparetime work on his father's 300-acre farm.

"My father gave me a small plot to encourage me," he said, "and I worked it during vacation and on weekends home from college."

"My big crop was potatoes. I hired what help I needed, and sanded and sold the crop myself to grocery stores. I put in only 45 hours of my own time altogether, and the profit figures out at better than $10 an hour."

In addition he won $100 in prizes at three local fairs.

"I also got 3,000 servings for our table from my garden," said Sears, "and 150 pint boxes for our freezer and about 300 jars of canned vegetables."

His father wants him to take over the family farm in time, and the youth has agreed. He is already employing scientific farming techniques learned in school.

"I had to twist dad's arm a little at first," he grinned, "but now he's all for them."

"We've airphotoed the farm to find the best way to conserve the soil by checking erosion.

"By keeping up with the times you can gross $10,000 or more a year on a New England farm such as ours. You ought to net better than $5,000 plus everything you need to eat except some salt from the store."

Young Sears wants to get rid of the farm's herd of 36 dairy cattle because "I don't care for cows—they just take up too much of a man's time."

His chief crops will be potatoes, chickens and tourists. He plans to modernize the 23-room old family farm house to attract the tourists—summer fugitives from the city.

"I don't want to live in a city myself," he smiled. "I've seen a city. I don't like the pace."

"There is more independence on a farm. It's easier to be your own boss."

"And, you know, you can get a lot more things done on a farm, because you don't have to change your clothes everytime you turn around. You can waste a lot of time getting in and out of a dress suit."

is no social or moral need to glamorize their parents. To make a press sensation of such a thing, in advance of its occurrence, and without sure knowledge of the fact, reflects unfavorably upon those who do it. It is no advantage to anyone to publish such news.

Perhaps saying this will bring down on my head the antagonism of many colleagues in this business of purveying news and views who will feel that Ingrid Bergman and Rita Hayworth and others like them are news and anything about them is news. And they will produce statistics. They will show that those who write such things have more readers than I have, and that those who speak of them have more listeners—and that those engaged in such activities make more money.

That argument does not sway me. The press throughout the world is fighting for its freedom. In very few countries does the press, or the radio, enjoy any freedom at all. In the United States, we are practically unrestricted in our liberty of expression. That we must guard religiously as a priceless heritage. Liberty is valueless without self-restraint. It can degenerate into a destructive anarchy which society organizes to curb. Self-restraint is a moral essential, if liberty is not to be lost.

The task of the press and the radio and motion pictures and any form of expression is to restrain itself, to police itself, to avoid giving public expression and even the appearance of approval to the immoral and indecent. It will do that for itself—or a resentful society will protect its social traditions by doing it.

Diet and Health Long Name Disease Not Always Fatal

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DURING recent years we have learned a great deal about a disease with a long name and a bad reputation. Known as histoplasmosis, it was at one time thought to be a highly fatal disorder but, within the past two years, research has shown that far from being necessarily fatal, it is often so mild as to go unrecognized.

Caused by Fungus The condition is caused by a fungus known as the Histoplasma capsulatum. In severe cases, the symptoms are like those of severe lung tuberculosis. The patient has fever, anemia, or a lessening or decrease in the number of red cells in the blood, loss of weight, and cough. The lymph glands and liver, as well as the spleen in the left upper part of the abdomen, may be enlarged. It seems that this fungus gets into the body through the mouth, but occasionally may gain entrance through the skin.

In children, the disorder starts gradually with loss of weight, fever, digestive upsets and coughing. Later in the condition, the lung is often affected. There are chest pains and abnormal breathing sounds. Often, calcium or lime deposits are seen in the X-ray plates of the lungs and lymph glands at the lung root.

Positive Reactions Large numbers of persons never known to have had the disease were tested with an extract from the organism which causes histoplasmosis, and many showed positive reactions. Further examination with X-ray disclosed numerous lime deposits in the lungs of these persons, similar to those caused by healed tuberculous infections. This clears up a problem which has baffled investigators for many years—the presence of such deposits in people who cannot be shown by any other test to have had tuberculosis. Apparently, not tuberculosis, but a mild form of histoplasmosis is responsible for these scars. From these results, it was suggested that a mild form of histoplasmosis may be responsible for a great deal of the lime deposits seen in persons who do not have tuberculosis.

Large Number Eighty-five children were tested with the histoplasmin, and a large number of them were found positive. These children often had such symptoms as tiredness, loss of weight, nightmares, fever at night, and coughing. They were often pale and listless, suffered from anemia, and X-rays of the chest showed many calcium or lime deposits in the lung tissues.

It would appear, therefore, that this condition, known as histoplasmosis, may occur much more often than was formerly realized. However, with careful examination, including X-rays of the chest and the making of a skin test with an extract of the fungus, a diagnosis may be reached. Treatment with sulfonamide drugs may be of value.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Reader: What are the symptoms of a brain tumor? Answer: Symptoms of brain tumor depend upon the size and location of the tumor within the brain. Most brain tumors consist of headaches, disturbance of the various sensations and sense organs, such as the eyes; at times attacks of vomiting may occur. If a tumor of the brain is suspected, immediate study by a neurologist is advisable.

Pretty Wife Is Held For Killing Husband

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 20—(AP)—A pretty thrice-married housewife was held today in the rifle slaying of her husband, found dead in the kitchen of their apartment on South Bend's eastside.

Detective Captain Fremont Lemer said the 31-year-old woman, Mrs. Iona E. Long, was charged with "investigation to murder." He said she admitted the fatal shooting of her husband, Ralph Long, 40, early Sunday after an all-night drinking party and quarrel. "He was the only one of my husbands I really loved," Lemer said she sobbed.

The detective said she told of jamming one shell into a hunting rifle and firing it into the floor "just to scare him." She quoted her husband as saying, "what's the matter, losing your aim?" Lemer said she then told of screaming at him to turn around and face her, and then of firing another shot. The bullet struck near Long's heart.

Morals and Decency in News

By George E. Sokolsky

Maybe I am a prig, but when a press agent telephoned to invite me to see a Russell picture, I turned him down. I do not choose to see a Russell picture. I do not choose to sanction his publicized conduct. The man I do not know: I only know the press-agency concerning himself and Ingrid Bergman. None of their conduct could have attracted the attention it has unless they, or one of them, arranged it so.

Now, it is announced in the press, particularly by those who have made a profession of glorifying the bizarre, that Miss Bergman is about to have a child and this world-stirring, earth-shaking news is plastered over front pages as though it were really important to anyone but herself.

Actually, the news itself is indecent, and we cannot afford to cultivate, to condone, to glorify the indecent. Unless Miss Bergman or her attendants provided the news, it is altogether impossible that anyone should have known that she was in the presumed condition, particularly as a date has been set for the event. Only she or one of her attendants could have provided the date. That is, unless the tale is untrue both as to event and date, and if so, it is all the more an impropriety to speculate on it and to publish it.

This is a serious problem for the press at this time, particularly as readers, wearied of great talk and history-in-the-making, crave a change of pace, a return to human interest, a lighter approach. Certainly to meet that desire, it is not necessary to speculate on the birth of Mrs. Khan's baby—a report which while sensational at the time proved to be utterly untrue, indecent and persecutive, as to the date; nor is it necessary to advertise the speculative legitimacy of any child. There is neither kindness nor morality in that.

The press of the United States needs to police itself against the degenerative mentality of Hollywood where press agents smear their own clients to catch an inch of attention. It is neither good for our children nor for our society to cultivate the unclean, the foul, the indecent, to become glamorous and to attract attention. That is a device which may amuse and even bring joy to those who relish backstairs gossip, but it also degrades society and cultivates an attitude that anything goes. Children born outside of conventional marriages are the pawns of the vulgarization of a sacrament. They are to be loved and pitied. But there

Russians Win In Name Calling

Variety of Epithets At UN Meetings

BY CHARLES A. GRUMICH
LAKE SUCCESS, (AP)—The Russians easily won the name calling championship of the 1949 United Nations Assembly despite efforts to shut them up when they got to bandying epithets.

They also introduced some new developments in this field by mixing entomology and etymology—calling people lice, beetles and cockroaches—and keying their campaign to what they call American worship of atomic energy, or bombolatry.

The individual champion name caller and word coiner was the Soviet Ukraine's fiery old white-maned Bolshevik, Foreign Minister Dmitri Z. Manuisky, a Slav with a roaring laugh and biting tongue.

There was some name calling from outside the Soviet orbit, principally in the still bitter Arab-Israeli battles over Palestine. But that was intramural or minor league stuff compared with what the Russians got away with.

Gag Threats Falls

Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo tried to stop the flow of name calling and succeeded only partly. Once he ruled a speaker who offended would be cut off the amplification-translation system and find himself talking only to himself and a few people nearby.

When that failed to keep words off the air, Romulo ruled some of them out of the record, but not out of the public prints or out of the ears of radio listeners.

Romulo said in September he wanted to make this go down in history as the peace assembly of the 59 nations. It didn't.

He and some chairmen of the 59-nation committees called to order the Russians and satellite speakers for a great variety of language that seemed singularly foreign to the striped-pants and Homburg set of old diplomatic tradition.

Western language by contrast was generally firm, but inoffensive, in description of personalities. Britain's Minister of State Hector McNeil, a Scot with a sharp burly tongue and a liking for repartee, once referred to "Sergeant Major Vishinsky and his Little Platoon" from the small Slavic minority. On another occasion McNeil called the Russian Foreign Minister Mr. Vishinsky, begged his pardon, and made it Professor Vishinsky.

McNeil and Vishinsky punctuated one full day of debate with fables based on the struggles of the animal kingdom for survival to picture each other in parable. Chinese "The Pygmies".

The Soviet Bloc referred to Chinese Nationalists once as "The Pygmies" and always as delegates or representatives of the Kuomintang (government party) instead of calling them Chinese delegates and were admonished to identify them properly as coming from a member country of the U. N.

This assembly proved one big thing and that is a former Soviet satellite who becomes an enemy of the Kremlin learns to use better manners in debate and in relations with the press.

Deputy Foreign Minister Ales Bebler of Yugoslavia used to be the bete noir of committee chairmen; he called other speakers

"liar" as they spoke and refused when called on to stop some of the longest-winded and bitterest anti-west speeches heard in the U. N. But he is a changed man now. Russians invariably refer to his delegation as the "Tito Clique" although their country is a sovereign member of the U. N.

A denial of nationality also came from the Arab side when a Moslem delegate called an Israeli delegate the Jewish representative—in keeping with the Arab policy of non-recognition of Israel as a country or as the 59th nation admitted to the U. N.

The Israeli said there were Jews in other national delegations and that he should be known here by nationality.

Turn About Fair
The Arab was told by Committee Chairman Nasrollah Entezam, a diplomatic French-speaking Persian, that he must desist, then turned with a smile to the Israeli to say he could retaliate by calling the Arab an Arab next time.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, the first to call others warmongers in the early days of the U. N., had nothing much new to offer this time except a reference to the Nationalist Chinese as pygmies.

But Manuisky, an old revolutionary buddy of Joseph Stalin, let few opportunities pass. He shrugged off reprimands.

Toward the end of the session in a "peace" debate he said warmongers in the United States and Britain are cockroaches, lice and beetles—without putting names to match the insects. That was okay since no names were used.

But when he said one Lebanese delegate was an ignoramus and that French delegate Jean Chauvel wasn't a socrates mentally, his remarks were expunged from the record by the indignant Romulo.

The French delegate had ridiculed Vishinsky's arm-waving, red-faced way of making speeches for "peace" and said Russia's purported peace moves were designed to be self-defeating and only for propaganda.

Russians refer to American delegates such as Benjamin Cohen, the old Roosevelt brain truster, as Mr. Wall Street or the delegate from Wall Street.

Manuisky put two new words into the Russian-style diplomatic language: bombolatry to describe what he regards as American idolatry of atom bombs and atom warmongers to describe what Vishinsky used to call plain old warmongers.

No Ill Effects From Drug Use

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Arthritis patients will suffer no lasting ill effects from treatment with the new hormones cortisone or ACTH, says the arthritis and rheumatism foundation.

The foundation's medical advisory committee, in answer to what it said were "recent reports of unfavorable and even dangerous results from use of the drugs," said in a statement:

"Once the new drugs become available in sufficient amounts, there is no known reason for withholding them from any arthritis patient because of dangers associated with their administration."

choir will sing some Christmas carols. Santa will be on hand for the exchange of gifts. The public is invited.

College Play Banned

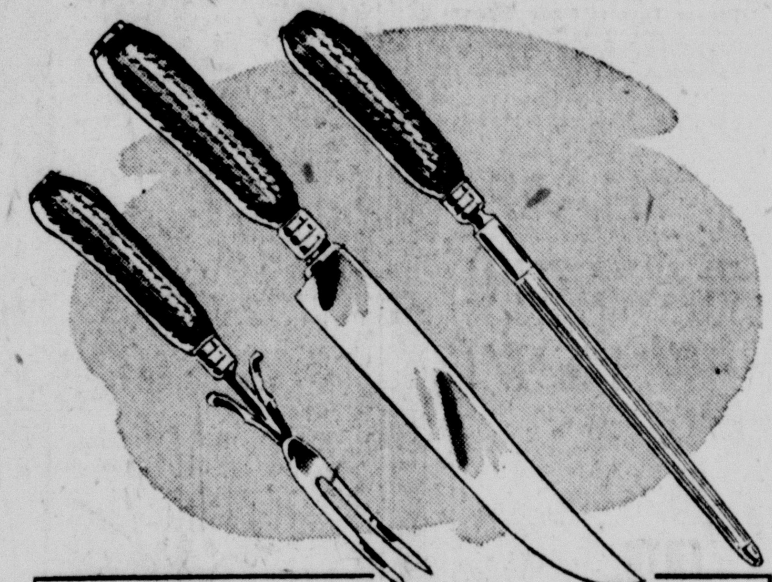

CINCINNATI, Dec. 20.—(AP)—President Raymond Walters of the University of Cincinnati yesterday banned temporarily, at least, production of the play "Dark of the Moon" by dramatic students. Petitions began circulating asking withdrawal of the order. The play was scheduled to be presented Feb. 9-11.

Phi Beta Psi Sorority
Annual Christmas Party

The Washington Country Club was the setting for the annual Christmas party of Phi Beta Psi Sorority which was an event of Monday evening. A beautifully lighted decorated Christmas tree in the alcove added to the cheery yuletide theme and red and green tinsel letters in long strands suspended from the ceiling featured the spelling of "Merry Christmas". Long tables with snowy white covers, seated the members for the serving of the delicious turkey dinner, featured the "Merry Christmas" theme in iridescent letters running the full length of the tables interspersed with tall red tapers in Christmas holders with sprigs of evergreen adding to the Christ-massy decorations.

Covers were found marked with gay tinsel tree ornaments which served as tallies for the progressive bridge game and also for the gift exchange, following the congenial dinner hour, which was arranged around a snow covered house with Santa entering the chimney.

Later twelve tables of bridge were at play and at the final progression awards were presented Mrs. Harry Ferguson who was the holder of high score, Mrs. C. L. Ford second, Mrs. J. Earl Gidding third and Mrs. Frank Weade fourth. Miss Dorothy Anne Jones received the special award.

Hostesses for the brilliant event were Miss Suzanne Willis, Mrs. J. Earl Parker, Mrs. Robert P. Wilson, Mrs. J. Ervin Van Winkle, Mrs. John Gerstner, Mrs. Olive Icenhower and Mrs. Paul Pennington.

Pre-Game Supper Entertained By

She included close school friends and they were: Misses Roseann Helfrich, Dinah Davis, Shirley Cockerill, Shirley Edgington, Sue Scott and Carolyn Dray.

Methodists To Open Basement For Use Sunday

Official Opening May Be Held After First Part of Year

The Grace Methodist Church will bring one of its fond hopes to a reality next Sunday when it opens up its completely renovated basement to youth Sunday school classes.

Primary, junior and high school youngsters of the church will be in for a pleasant experience when they hold classes in eight classrooms which are separated by sliding partitions.

Meanwhile, work on the basement renovation program will continue to move towards completion. Only finishing work and the installation of kitchen appliances and furnishing the basement remains.

Rev. Allan W. Caley, pastor of the Grace Methodist Church, said there are some sort of plans afoot for a formal opening of the basement after the first part of the year.

The basement construction program in reality amounted to a complete change of everything in the basement for something new, with the exception perhaps of the outside walls and supporting members.

Complete cost of the improvement program is estimated at the present time at $37,500. This figure includes the contractor's price of $30,300 architect fees, the cost of the special wiring, re-conversion of the heating system and incidentals.

One of the features of the basement is the fellowship or dining hall located in the west wing. Fluorescent lighting set in the ceiling and a modern kitchen will add considerably to the dining hall.

Former Resident Much in Demand

These are busy days, and nights, for Maxwell Wilson, son of Mrs. M. E. Wilson, and brother of Loren Wilson, of Washington C. H.

Maxwell is a member of the faculty of the Chicago Conservatory of Music, and director of music in Trinity Methodist Church, Chicago.

On top of that he appears each Saturday night on the Theater of the Air radio program.

But now, by reason of his exceptional tenor voice, he is much in demand to take the tenor solo parts in "The Messiah" over a wide area.

Sunday night he took the solo part in "The Messiah" presented by Cornell College, Mt. Union, Iowa, in which a chorus of 175, augmented by a 50 piece orchestra, presented the program.

It is one of the foremost choruses of the midwest, and it is a distinct honor to be chosen for a solo part. It was Wilson's second successive year as soloist with the chorus.

Four Fined For Having No Permit

Four men who had been hunting without permission of the landowners, were fined $10 and costs each in Justice S. P. Ludwick's court, and all paid the amount.

Ronald Stone, Waterloo, had been on the McQuade land without permission.

Three others were hunting on the Dr. J. H. Persinger land and had no permits. They were: Calvin Icholtz, W. W. Hamilton, and Joe Lawson, all of Cincinnati.

Bookwalter Man Is Held to Court

Forrest E. Merriman, Bookwalter, was held to the grand jury by Justice of the Peace, S. P. Ludwick, Monday, on a charge of passing a $10 check without funds at the Frederick store in Yatesville.

When the check bounced back, Frederick notified Sheriff Orland Hays, and Merriman was taken into custody.

Unable to furnish $500 bond at once, Merriman was sent to the county jail to await grand jury action or supplying the bond.

Savings Bond Sales Here Up

$1,050 Increase Noted in November

Richard P. Rankin, county Savings Bonds chairman, today announced that county sales of Series E Savings Bonds for the month of November, 1949 amounted to $22,312.00 as compared with November, 1948 sales of $21,262.00.

His report followed the announcement in Columbus Tuesday that Ohioans have put nearly $5,000,000 more in Savings Bonds during the 11 months of 1949 than they did during the same period of last year. November sales for the state as a whole, however, totalling $16,934,250, were under the total of $18,631,435 for 1948.

Meanwhile redemptions still were low, amounting to about one per cent a month of the amount of bonds outstanding. It is estimated that Ohioans now hold approximately $2,800,000,000 in Savings Bonds.

Fayette County Hospital 10th On Ohio List

Two Others in State With U. S. Approval Are Smaller, Report

The Fayette County Memorial Hospital, now under construction, will be tenth in size of 12 new hospitals approved for construction in Ohio under a current national hospital program.

Applications for the construction of additions or new hospitals, which will together cost about $17,168,000, have been approved for Ohio.

Fayette County stands to receive $210,000 as the federal government's share for financing the construction of a new 34-bed general hospital, to cost approximately $638,000.

The only Ohio hospitals on the current program which will be smaller than the Fayette County hospital are the 24-bed Memorial General Hospital in Geneva and the 25-bed Wyandot General Hospital in Upper Sandusky.

Ohio, which experts describe as desperately short of hospital facilities, is a big participant in the national hospital program, under which $2,250,000,000 of construction is planned in the next six years.

Projects in Ohio totaling $32,270,000 have been approved or are awaiting approval by the hospital service section of the Federal Security Agency, according to a report by the Associated Press.

Four Have Bigger Programs
Only Pennsylvania, New York, Louisiana and Texas have bigger programs than Ohio.

The work is being planned and done under the Hill-Burton act of 1946. Congress this year extended the law for six more years and doubled the annual federal grants-in-aid to $150,000,000 a year.

The completed Ohio applications are designed to add 1,186 beds to hospital facilities. A security agency survey says Ohio hospitals have beds for 43,970 patients, and need space for 55,254 more to meet normal demand.

Applications from Ohio already approved, permitting the start of construction, and the estimated total cost and federal grant, in that order, are as follows:

Ashtabula new General Hospital, 100 new beds, $1,786,218; $595,406.

Bellefontaine, addition to Mary Rutan General Hospital, 34 beds, $438,221; $102,209.

Bowling Green, new Wood County General Hospital, 54 beds, $839,767; $279,922.

Cincinnati, new chronic disease hospital, 380 beds, $4,695,528; 1-195,528.

Conneaut, addition and remodel Brown Memorial General Hospital, 35 beds, $561,240; $187,080.

Defiance, new General Hospital, with public health center and out-patient department, 66 beds, $897,911; $299,304.

Geneva, new Memorial General Hospital, 24 beds, $399,509; $133,170.

Lorain, addition to St. Joseph General Hospital, 68 beds, $735,177; $245,059.

Mansfield, new Richland County tuberculosis sanatorium, 84 beds, $788,025; $91,830.

Nelsonville, new Mt. St. Mary General Hospital, with public health center and out-patient dept., 74 beds, $1,256,965; $418,988.

Upper Sandusky, new Wyandot General Hospital, 25 beds, $394,984; $131,661.

Washington C. H. new Fayette Memorial General Hospital, with health center, and out-patient department, 34 beds, $638,000; $210,000.

Wilmington, new Clinton County Memorial General Hospital, 65 beds, $880,795; $293,598.

Wooster, new Community General hospital with health center, 70 beds, $1,369,986; $164,195.

Xenia, Greene County General hospital with public health center and out-patient department, 75 beds, $1,356,678; $440,559.

Bodies of Victims Of Crash Found

HAMILTON FIELD, Calif., Dec. 19 —(AP)—Bodies of three airmen killed in the crash of an air force training plane were to be brought out of the rugged Sierra Nevada today.

The AT-11, missing since Saturday afternoon on a training flight from Hamilton Field, apparently got lost in the heavily-overcast mountains 130 miles northeast of San Francisco. It crashed on a ridge.

An air force party was directed to the wreckage by Christmas tree cutters who found it yesterday on a timbered mountainside.

One of the fliers appeared to have tried to use his parachute, but it failed because of low altitude.

A "dead spot" is an area in which reception of a radio signal is extremely poor or absent.

Bucks Work Out in California Rain

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 20—(P)—"Suddy California—ah choo!" That's the sniffling reaction of Ohio State's Buckeyes after two hard opening workouts for their Jan. 2 Rose Bowl engagement with California.

The first drill was held in a driving morning rain; the second in a penetrating afternoon wind. The result: right end Tom Watson caught a cold, and Coach Wes Fesler said, "We have several more cases, too."

But the head man defended the drills. "We needed the work, and the boys will snap out of anything they might catch now."

There was contact work right off the bat, with the first and second string lines butting heads in a long charging and blocking session. The boys from Ohio impressed observers with their size, speed and spirit even under the dampening circumstances.

Elk Lead Is Cut In Fraternal Loop

By winning two out of three, the Country Clubbers cut the lead of the Elks in the Fraternal League down a little and moved into a tie with the Mt. Sterling Boosters in the last round of matches before the holiday recess.

In Monday night's bowling at Bowland, the Country Clubbers nosed out the Elks by 8 pins in the first game and by only 42 in the second. Then they went into a tailspin and were swamped in the finale.

Paul Pennington got hotter than a firecracker in his last two games, and as a result the Rotarians won both of them from the Lions after dropping the opener. Penny racked up scores of 158, 234 and 225 for a fat total of 617.

The Record-Herald bowled consistently, but could win only the middle game of their match with the Universals. All three games were fairly close.

The Mt. Sterling Boosters were knocked down into a second place tie with the Country Clubbers when the Sabina Moose took all three games. There was a spread of only 8 pins—from 840 to 848—between the high and low games rolled by the Moose.

The Buckeyes, in turf parlance, could qualify as superior mudders. They overcame a 10-point deficit to edge Pittsburgh, 14-10, in rain and go. They also polished off Wisconsin, 21-0, on an off track.

And with Southern California in the grip of the wettest winter in at least six years, there's a chance that the Feslerites may get another chance to show their mudability against Cal, which is slightly favored.

Aside from the colds, Fesler said he was satisfied with the first day drills and planned another double dose today. The only "crips," halfbacks Jimmy Clark and Vic Janowicz, looked quite limber. The first string was intact except for Bob McCullough at center, in place of All-Conference Jack Linger, still in Columbus with his ailing wife.

Fesler made a hit with west coast writers by allowing them free access to the practices—the first time this has happened since the Big 10 became a Rose Bowl "Partner." He said he will keep the gates open daily.

When the WHS Lions take the floor at Portsmouth East, Tuesday night, they will be up against the same team that the '48 squad beat 27 to 25.

As the score would indicate, the East boys are a bunch of deliberate, comparatively slow ball players.

Their style is totally different from the fast breaking play of the Lions, but nevertheless, quite effective.

Coach Steve Lewis has memories of one sharp East player who towers at about 6-4. There are also a couple of others who will easily dwarf any of the Blue Lion squad, Lewis said.

But the WHS cagers are not paying much attention to the other team right now.

Monday afternoon Lewis had them out for a light workout in the fundamentals.

The Lion mentor is still working for more alert and faster breaking floor play from his charges. "It's primarily a case of getting them moving around more," Lewis said.

As far as the line-up is concerned, it will probably be somewhat changed from the quintet that took the floor against Circleville.

Alkire, Blair and Robinette are the three most likely starters, with Smith and Archer having a chance to edge out Pensyl and Sheldier at the other two spots.

After the East game, the Lions will return to face Dayton Roosevelt, Friday, for their second home contest.

Rex Grossman's 44-yard field goal for Baltimore against Los Angeles was the longest of the All-American Conference season.

Hospital Ordered For Injured Boxer

TOLEDO, Dec. 20 —(P)—A brain specialist said yesterday that Leonard Morrow, Oakland, Calif., boxer injured here last Tuesday night, is suffering from severe brain injuries.

He ordered Morrow returned to a Toledo hospital for observation. Morrow was injured when his head struck the edge of the ring during his fight with Archie Moore of Toledo. Moore won by a knockout in the 10th round of a scheduled 15.

His resignation came after the student body protested his appointment by the school's athletic board of control. Three members of the board also resigned.

The students had asked that Ted Szalowski be named head football coach, and Principal Charles C. Larue said he would recommend Szalowski's appointment next year when the board meets.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN
DONALD let Susan in. "You've got a nerve!" he expostulated. "That car's supposed to be mine!"

"Well, you weren't using it, reasonably, 'why shouldn't I?'" "You ought to ask me first."

"Don't be a drip." She was tossing off her outer garments. "You were asleep. Would you have liked me to waken you? Anyway, I knew I'd be back before you were up."

"Well, you weren't."

She kicked off her red boots, her laugh sounding on the air. "Do I hear Grandfather's legal exactness in you?" she asked gaily, and blowing him a kiss, she linked her arm in his and walked with him toward the dining room. At the door they both stopped, feeling instantly the atmosphere within.

"What's this?" Donald asked. "The graveyard hitch? Or just the merry morning after the naughty night before?"

They were a delightful pair, Donald with his blond debonaire light-heartedness, Susan with her dark, incandescent beauty. They stood there for a moment then, dropping his arm, Susan preceded him to the table.

"I imagine I'm the reason for all this gravity," she said. "Where have you been, Susan?"

Susan looked across at her father. Donald had taken his place and was reaching for fruit, but she still stood behind her chair, her hands resting lightly on its top.

"I've been down to the Inn having breakfast with Gerry. Any crime in that?" She tilted her chin and awaited his reply with a level, undisturbed composure that suddenly infuriated Frank. His face became suffused the color of dull red brick, his eyes glittered and for a moment he felt as if he were going to choke. For here was defiance of the first water. Here was open insubordination to a superior.

"We told you last night we didn't want you to have anything more to do with this fellow. And we told you why."

"It so happens that you didn't have the whole story about him."

"And you now have. His story." There was an ugly sneer in his voice and Susan's hands folded quietly over the rim of her chair until the knuckles showed white.

"Yes. His story."

Frank was breathing heavily, overwhelmed again by his sense of inadequacy before this bit of a girl. "The fact remains," he said, "that you disobeyed an order."

Susan elevated an eyebrow. "Order? I'm not accustomed to orders."

Donald broke in, his mouth full of banana. "Relax, Dad. You're out of the Army, you know. What's the matter with Gerry that you're all so down on him, anyway? I thought he was a right nice guy."

"Susan, I do say it. I realize that right or wrongly—and now, I am sure, it was wrongly—your own decisions on personal matters. But this time you have to accept the decision and opinion of those older and therefore wiser than you are."

"Therefore wiser!" Susan turned her cool contemptuously on her grandmother. "Really, that's the damndest tommy-rot I ever heard."

"Susan!"

"I mean it, Mother. Why? What makes you all wiser? Lying is supposed to, I know. But the way you all live, you're learned nothing. Nothing at all. You just go on and on in the same old rut of doing and thinking."

Frank's chair went over backward as he got to his feet. "Shut your mouth! Do you hear me? Shut your mouth!"

Susan whirled toward him. "Don't talk to me like that!"

"I'll talk to you, young lady, as I see fit. You seem to forget I'm your father."

"Susan!" Audrey was on her feet, too, now, her dark eyes flashing from one to the other of them. "Susan, wait. We can talk this out calmly. We always have. Frank, you should know that's not the way..."

He turned on her. "This is your fault," he said thickly. "Always, all their lives you've let them..."

Steven's voice fell quietly into the electric atmosphere.

"If I may be allowed a word. One and all turned toward him. "I think," he said slowly, "that we do not want to make the mistake of forming a snap judgment."

He paused. "I think," he went on, "seeing what Gerry has done with his life so far," he paused again, "starting from scratch, that we might give him the benefit of the doubt and wait and see what he does with the rest of it."

"Wait and see!" Susan broke in passionately. "This don't call for waiting. His calls for doing right now."

"Just what had you in mind, Susan?" her grandfather asked.

"Well, you're going to help," she nodded toward her father.

"If he wants you to, you're going to help him. I heard you say so. Why don't you help Gerry, too? He could use a job as well as Frank!"

Pension Cut Here

stationery, postage, church con- tributions, lodge dues, hobbies and other things are included under the heading "personal and miscel- laneous expenses."

The reduction in the health allowance, while not nearly as severe, may work a hardship on those aged individuals who re- quire medical attention. The cut will average from $2 to $5 yearly. If the pensioner finds he or she needs more than the $5 monthly, which will be allowed, provision has been made for relief payments on the basis of bills or receipts showing health and care costs in excess of $5 per month.

Instructions issued
McIntyre issued instructions to subdivision offices which stated: "If an award is reduced be- cause of the $5 monthly maximum for health care, or if there is an apparent need for health care in excess of this maximum, the client will be informed, orally and in writing of the maximum allow- ance and advised that an allow- ance for necessary health care in excess of this maximum will be provided, to the extent avail- able upon the basis of bills or receipts for such care which are presented to the division."

In regard to the personal and miscellaneous allowance cutbacks, McIntyre issued the following in- structions to his subdivision of- fices: "If an award is reduced be- cause of the fixed standard for personal and miscellaneous ex- penses, it will be explained to the recipient, both orally and in writ- ing, that as a result of the wide difference existing in the amount of the allowances for these items, the division is now granting a fixed amount in order to treat each recipient with equal fairness."

Dance Pupils Entertained By Johnny Godfrey

Nearly one hundred pupils of the Johnny Godfrey Dancing School were entertained when Mr. Godfrey included them at his an- nual Christmas party on Sunday afternoon at Memorial Hall, from two to three-thirty in the after- noon.

Christmas carols were sung by the group around a huge lighted tree in the center of the room, with Jean Miller accompanying and the program was opened with a vocal duet presented by the Sexton twins, Karlyn and Mar- lyn, of Sabina.

Later the pupils were divided into two groups, the older guests enjoying the game, musical chair, with prizes going to Eddie Korn and Teddy Hankins. The other group made up of pre-school, first and second graders, enjoyed con- tests pinning the mustache on Santa, which was won by Marty Woodyard and Karen Thompson, and pinning the tail on the don- key, won by Paul Nedostup and Sue Collins.

Tempting refreshments of ice cream and cake were served the pupils and a gift exchange was enjoyed around the Christmas tree.

Assisting Mr. Godfrey were Misses Ruth Ludwick and Audrey Rhoads of the school and mothers of several of the pupils.

At every vantage point throughout the home were festive holiday decorations.

A short business session was conducted by the chapter presi- dent, Mrs. John Rhoads, during which final plans were announced for the Children's Christmas party on Thursday afternoon December 22. Gifts for these children were distributed for wrapping and will be presented by Santa Claus at the party. Twenty-two members were seated at one long table and two smaller tables, distinctively Christmasy in their adornments, for the delicious repast. Later, mystery sisters were revealed and gifts were exchanged, with names drawn for the coming year.

Another highlight of the after- noon was the "grab bag" gift ex- change, when the members each received a beautiful gift. Later the group enjoyed the packing of a Christmas box, which was sent to the Pythian Sister Home at Me- dina.

WIFE-SAVER

We hear that Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin told a crowd of 3,000 at the Brockton, Mass., fair that he had nothing to say.

We'd like to tell people everywhere about labor-saving PENNINGTON bread and Cakes. Save labor, save time, save money. Let PENNINGTON do your baking for you.
